BRADY'S ACES WORKING HARD FOR THE MONEY

TRAINER-DRIVER NEIL BRADY HAS NEVER BEEN ONE TO DIE WONDERING WHEN IT COMES TO HIS HORSES.

Best known for his association with one of the stars of the modern generation, Franco Ice, Brady is currently racing a handy team.

One of those is iron juvenile Watch The Aces.

A winner of five races who has also placed 12 times from 28 starts in his two-year-old season, Watch The Aces is set for a busy weekend.

Firstly, he is contesting the $20,500 Rod Fitzpatrick Memorial Stakes at Harold Park this Friday night, before venturing back home to race again the following day!

At Bendigo on Saturday, he is engaged in the second semi-final of the Australasian Breeders Crown for two-year-old colts and geldings.

Despite a long season which has involved plenty of traveling interstate, Watch The Aces has produced some spectacular runs, including finishing runner-up in the NSW Sires' Stakes Final at Menangle on June 29.

The son of Aces N Sevens has contested two races at Harold Park for a win and a placing.

Those performances were his victory in a semi-final of the NSW Sires', while his third was at the hands of Emjayem Grand in the Sapling Stakes.

To see Watch The Aces slug it out once more, the Rod Fitzpatrick Memorial will be conducted at 8:30pm Friday night.
